GOVERNMENT GATHERS HOPE FROM DEFEAT OF RADICALS

Trusts That a Change Has Taken Place in the Tide
of Public Opinion

St. Petersburg, Aug. 14.—The government attaches much importance to the defeat of the Constitutional Democrats in the Zemstvo elections now under way. For years the provincial Zemstvos have been centres of Liberal movement and practically all Constitutional Democrat leaders have been prominent in Zemstvo work. Now, as candidates for re-election they are going down to defeat. M. Kakoshkine, next to M. Rodicheff, the most brilliant of constitutional democratic orators in the outlawed parliament has been defeated by Count Sheremetieff, the notorious reactionary and yesterday two constitutional democrats were defeated at Samara. While these results certainly indicate a reaction of sentiment against the advanced program of the Constitutional Democrats it should also be pointed out that the nobility and the landed proprietors have a dominant influence in Zemstvo elections and the defeat of the Constitutional Democrats probably represents more their hostility to the principle of forced expropriation of land to which the Constitutional Democrats are committed, than enmity towards the purely political part of their program. Nevertheless the important landed interests, reactionary or Liberal, are united and lining up in favor of the government as against the parliament's radical agrarian program. There are strong reasons to believe that it is the intention of the Stolypin ministry, if things move normally, to support the candidates or regenerationists who are expected to amalgamate with the Octoberists, whether the co-operation of the right wing of the Constitutional democrats is secured or not. A significant symptom of radical change in the situation produced by the failure of the general strike is the fact that the majority of the Social Democratic leaders, who a fortnight ago were its most active promoters, are now in favor of turning their attention to the coming election and have already begun to canvass the situation for their candidates. The first issue of the Pionier, whose motto is "Labor and Liberty" was confiscated today. Last night three policemen were murdered in St. Petersburg, one in Moscow and three in Kazan.

DR. MCINTYRE ADDRESSES CITIZENS.

Last Friday evening Ross' hall was well filled by the town ratepayers who assembled at the call of the mayor, to hear Dr. McIntyre, M.P., discuss the G. T. P. P. crossing question. Mayor Sheppard was in the chair and in an introductory speech outlined the object of the meeting. Dr. McIntyre, M.P., then addressed the meeting at length and showed how he had endeavored to have the Government accept the crossing at Strathcona instead of the Clover Bar crossing. Brief addresses were also given by W. H. Cluff and D. Bush. At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks to Dr. McIntyre, M.P., for his faithful work at Ottawa in behalf of the G. T. P. Strathcona crossing and for this evening's instructive address, was proposed and carried unanimously.

THREE-FOLD CONDEMNATION

Winnipeg Jury, Condemns Conditions
of the River, Lack of Bathing Stations and Want of Life Belts

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—The coroner's jury in the quintruple drowning fatality last night condemned allowing submerged posts in the river, condemned the city council for not having a bathing station for teaching the young to swim, and recommended compelling river craft to carry life belts.

EDMONTON MAN INJURED.

Mr. C. E. Morris, of this city was seriously injured last evening while driving in Strathcona. The team became frightened and ran away. Mr. Morris was thrown from the rig and a shoulder dislocated.

DIED FROM BLOOD POISONING.

The death occurred at the public hospital yesterday of Charles Lyons, aged 16 years, 1 month. Deceased was the eldest son of the late Edwin Lyons and his death is the second shadow which has passed over the home within a month. Death was due to blood poisoning caused by a horse stepping on his foot. At first the injury was not considered serious and had gotten beyond control before apprehensions were aroused. The leg was amputated yesterday but the lad failed to rally.

The funeral takes place at 3.30 this afternoon from the family residence on Jasper avenue east, Rev. A. S. Tuttle officiating. The boys' brigade will attend in a body.

VOTING ON THE BY-LAWS.

The citizens of Edmonton vote tomorrow on several important money by-laws submitted by city council which will involve the expenditure of $14,500. Only private owners, assessed on the last revised assessment roll for $100 or over, have the right to vote. The following is a summary of the by-laws:

To raise $46,000 for Parks, exhibition grounds, stock yards and other similar municipal purposes.

To raise $12,000 to purchase road and ditching machinery.

To raise $65,000 to improve and extend the municipal telephone system.

To raise $11,500 to Construct and equip an isolation hospital, in addition to $3,500 already.

On money by-laws the cumulative system of voting is used, the burgess having a number of votes proportioned to the amount of his assessment. On an assessment from $100 to $599, one vote; $600 to $1,199, two votes; $1,200 to $1,999, three votes; $2,000 or more, 4 votes.

GRASPED A LIVE WIRE

Hung Thirty Feet From the Ground
Until Electrocutted

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Fort William, Aug. 13.—Joseph Brodie, a lineman was electrocuted at noon today. Brodie who was for about two years employed in the Canadian Pacific elevator, has been engaged as a lineman for a few weeks. At the time of sustaining the shock he was standing at the top of the pole, stringing a wire between elevator "E" and "D." By mistake he grabbed a live wire, from which he was unable to disengage himself. In that position he hung suspended thirty feet from the ground for fifteen minutes when he was taken down dead. The arm was charred to the elbow.

Prices Should Be High.

Alexander MacLean, Canadian representative at Yokohama of the Trade and Commerce department, recently granted an interview to a reporter of The Mail and Empire. In which he made some statements that are decidedly interesting to Western Canada. "It continues to be a matter of surprise to many people in Canada," he says, "that Canadian flour does not figure more largely in the Japanese market. This surprise finds expression in public speeches, in newspaper references to the matter, and in not a few other ways."

But the result of two years' study of the question leads Mr. MacLean to conclude that this condition is due to prejudice or discrimination against Canadian flour, but to other causes. First, there is no direct agency representing it, "whereas for the flour of Canada's competitors there are direct agencies, besides the impetus or momentum of long-time and widely-established trade connections."

But the chief drawback is the paucity of Canada's supply available for the Oriental market. For instance, the total export of flour from Vancouver in 1905 was $76,488 worth, of which $62,000 worth went to Japan, whereas ten times that amount would be insufficient, he thinks, to give Canadian flour a strong commercial standing in the Japanese market. There is, of course, an ample output from the Manitoba mills, but the expense of transportation of this product to the Pacific would make it cost prohibitive.

"If it were practicable by transportation facilities as it is by geographical incidents," Mr. MacLean concludes "to place the dividing point of Canadian transcontinental traffic Atlantic and Pacific wards, at Winnipeg, the situation would in some measure support the expectation of a large trade in flour between Canada and Japan. But as things have been and are now, that expectation should be under restraint until the wheat-growing capabilities of Alberta and British Columbia have had time to take effect."

Win. Carson of the Western Milling company was interviewed by the Herald this morning and made substantially the same remarks with respect to the western trade with the Orient.

Mr. Carson believes it would be an excellent plan for the millers of this country to establish agencies in China and Japan. The flour of Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta is combatting today the Washington millers, who place the flour in Japan and China much more cheaply than Canadian millers can hope to do. Their flour is of an inferior grade, and very little of this sort is made in Canada. The Western Milling company recently sent to Hong Kong a sample of low grade flour and quoted the price at $3 a barrel. The answer was soon returned to them:

"It is too high. We cannot pay it." The demand of the east is for an inferior brand of flour, and the Japanese have not learned to discriminate. Mr. Carson suggests that if an agency were established, and competent men were placed in charge to show by experiments the superiority of Canadian flour, our article might be welcomed in markets where the Washington flour has the monopoly.

The amount of flour shipped from Canada seaward is at present a bagatelle. This is due in part to the prices quoted and in part to the fact that Alberta is not today raising sufficient grain for export purposes. The local milling companies are hauling from Saskatchewan and paying large freight bills where they expect in time to be supplied locally. Until Alberta produces grain for her own mills she cannot hope to export to the Orient. Mr. Carson is of the opinion that the amount of grain raised in the province is much less than advertised in the published crop reports. It is only during the last three years that Alberta has gone extensively into the raising of wheat, but if present indications show any value at the present rate of increase there will be quite a lot of grain raised here for export purposes next year.

Mr. Carson is of the opinion that wheat will be comparatively scarce this fall in Alberta, and that the yield will probably be about the same as last year. The fall wheat will probably run 15 to 20 bushels to the acre and the spring wheat somewhat more. "But people have got the wrong impression of Southern Alberta," said Mr. Carson. "Years ago they used to get up in Calgary Board of Trade and discussing the idea of inducing a farming population into this part of the province. A great many today have the idea that wheat cannot be raised successfully in the south country. It is wrong. In my eight years' experience here I have only known one dry season and then there were parts of Southern Alberta which ran 45 to 50 bushels to the acre. So much for the 'drought' they talk about. I know three seasons during that time when there was too much wet. There is more good wheat land in Southern Alberta than there is in the North. There is very much less scrub and a larger acreage available."

FOUND BODY OF MISSING MAN

Was a C. P. R. Timekeeper Who Disappeared in August Last

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Port Arthur, Aug. 13.—A despatch from Caldwell, on the C.P.R., states that some squaws while picking berries, found the remains of a man near the railway track, about one mile west of that station. The agent at Caldwell was notified, and an investigation found the body lying in a natural position on the left side. A maintenance of way rule book and knife were found in the hip pocket and in the vest pocket was a gold watch, from which the agent identified the man as Fred Morris, who had been missing since Aug. 10th last. On that date Morris, who was a timekeeper on the section gang, left the gang to go fishing and searching parties failing to find him it was concluded he had been drowned. The body when found was in a bad state of decomposition and was not removed. The corner from Port Arthur has been notified.

2000 HARVESTERS PASS WINNIPEG

Forty Coaches Required to Carry the Excursionists to Their Destinations

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—Two thousand harvesters, who stayed over Saturday in the city, were taken west in special cars. It required forty coaches to accommodate them. At Brandon 300 were transferred to the Estevan branch while the rest were carried to western points. Regular trains going to Deloraine and Moose Jaws carried 300 more who are to be distributed to towns on the main line. The second excursion from the east leaves today and 6,000 Ontario men are booked for the west. From all cities and towns the C.P.R. and G.T.R. will be picking up harvesters who will arrive on Wednesday and Thursday.

STRATHCONA MAY SECURE C.N.R. LINE FROM THE FORT

STENSLAND IS STILL MISSING

Police Investigation May Involve
Other Parties

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Attorney Olsen today applied to Judge Kersten for warrants against persons connected with the wrecking of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank. Olsen said: "We are interested now in the relations Stensland bore to women who have been prominent in Chicago and elsewhere. It is not improbable that one of these may throw light on a half million of forgeries. It is possible the charges may involve her." Police Inspector Shippy is searching the plans of the Stensland mansion to ascertain if there is a secret room in which the banker may be hiding, or in which he may have concealed valuable collateral and evidences of his crimes.

CHICAGO MARKETS

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Cattle were nominally steady and 19 to 15 cents higher for the week. Live muttons were unchanged but lambs sold at 10 to 25 cents under quotations early yesterday. The cattle receipts totalled 5,540 and the estimate for tomorrow, 2,500. $15.25 to $16.00; poor to medium, $14.85 to $15.25. Stockers and feeders sold at $12.30 to $14.25; cows and heifers $2.50 to $5.30; canners $1.10 to $2.45; western, $1.85 to $5.30; Texas, $3.50 to $4.75. Sheep receipts, 15,000 estimated for tomorrow 9,000. The market was steady at 10c lower on live sheep $3.50 to $5.30; western sheep $2.25 to $5.35; native lambs, $4.60 to $7.75; western lambs, $4.75 to $7.75.

GOOD EXHIBITS

President McKenzie Outlines Conditions on Which Com- pany Would Build

President McKenzie, of the C. N. R., met the Strathcona board of trade last evening to talk over the railway situation and outlined to the board the conditions on which his company were prepared to run a line from Strathcona along the south side of the river, joining the main line at Fort Saskatchewan.

Practically the proposal was that the C.N.R. would build this line at once if Strathcona would provide them a site for their terminals in that town. The site desired was a block 250 feet by 3,000 feet.

On this condition the company was prepared to build the line, erect suitable terminals and inaugurate a daily train service connecting with the daily eastbound passenger on the main line.

The board of trade subsequently met and discussed the matter which will probably be brought before the town council at their next meeting.

without casualty on either side. On the morning of July 17, two native watchmen shot and killed two and wounded one of an armed landing party. The crews of the schooner under the protection of log, and seals in the water close to the shore most of the day. During this time shot gun firing, which could be easily heard from the shore, was frequent. It is unknown how many seals were killed in this manner but the number must have been considerable. On the evening of the same day crews of at least three schooners made a concerted raid on widely separated rookeries. The raid on the Seapand rookeries was repulsed by the native guard after considerable fighting. The raid on the northeast part was partially successful. Owing to a dense fog the raiders were not discovered until nearly two hundred seals had been killed. The raid, which was apparently perpetrated by an entire ship's crew of five boats, was repulsed by Agents Lampke, Judge and a native force only, and three of the raiders were killed and five captured. Most of the seals killed in the water were females in search of food for their young. During the time I was on the island schooners were frequently sighted less than three miles from the shore. It is evident that at least eight or ten schooners believed to be Japanese are sailing in close proximity to the islands. The twelve prisoners were taken in the cutter McCutlough to Lodiak and after a hearing before the court were committed to a jury and taken in charge by marshall.

The One Right Steel Plate Range

Until we found out just the right way to use asbestos to keep the heat in a cooking range where it must cook the food instead of cooking the cook, every steel-plate range kept the kitchen boiling-hot. This range is a cool range—the top shield and lining is thick asbestos, so the heat stays inside the range and keeps even. Food is better cooked, quicker cooked and cooked for less fuel-cost.

AN ILLUSTRATION OF THE NEED OF A FILTRATION SYSTEM

If the amount of sediment in the water they are drinking could be brought home practically and visibly to the citizens of Edmonton, the establishment of a filtration system would be urged upon the civic authorities in no lukewarm manner and would probably be made a feature in the coming civic elections.

A practical demonstration of what drinking water should not be like was furnished at the city offices yesterday. Attached to the tap from which the office employees obtain their drinking water is a small filter consisting of a cylindrical porous stone about ten inches long through which the water percolates slowly, the sediment being left deposited on the stone. After three day's operation the covering of the filter was removed yesterday and the stone was found completely covered with a layer of very fine sand, the thickness of about 1-16 of an inch. When cleaned under a tap the result was a wash basin filled with absolutely non-transparent liquid.

Yet the water supplied the citizens is not now unusually laden with sediment for this period of the year and to the naked eye appears comparatively free from sand. What then must be the amount of sediment in periods of high water when besides the invisible particles which make no appreciable change in its color or volatility the water bears a cargo of coarser sand which transforms it to the color of milk and the consistency of "mush"? Must not the continued use of such water be harmful to the human system? Immediately it may have no apparent consequences but in the long course of years must not the system perform something of the duty of the filter and like the filter secrete somewhere, in some form, and to some degree, the deposit of sediment? It will require a considerable volume of expert medical testimony to convince us otherwise.

The water supply of the city is not at present filtered in any manner. When the waterworks system was installed a sedimentation basin was constructed at the power house in which the water was to be allowed to "settle" before being pumped through the mains. But the growth of the city has outstripped expectations and the basin long since was found so small that the water could not be left long enough to accomplish any appreciable good. It was in consequence abandoned and the supply now passes from the river to the tap without filtration of any kind.

This unsatisfactory condition of affairs has been borne by the citizens with exemplary patience but there is a limit to justifiable patience. This limit has been reached if not already passed and the matter of a filtration system should not longer be delayed.

"THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR"

A few months ago Clinton B. Wray absconded from Pittsburg, Pa., with peculations amounting to $125,000 and in company with a woman qualified to be the companion of a thief and a gambler, sought refuge in Canada. A few days since he was rounded up by the police in Toronto, waived extradition and will be taken back to Pittsburg to pay the penalty of the theft. He was trying to secure a position as a clerk at $12 per week. Meantime two years of debauch had dimmed the lustre of the life of glided shame and after his arrest he said to a reporter:

"Money got dishonestly never brings any good results. A man with $500,000 and a woman in a strange city is not as well off as a clerk in Toronto with $10 a week."

"I haven't been as happy during all the last two years as I am today. My stealings extended over that length of time, and all the time I have felt like a hunted animal, and knew that sooner or later I would be brought to book. I knew that I couldn't keep out of trouble long."

"In all my experience I have never known anyone who has got money dishonestly who has profited by it and got any good out of it at all. If a man could make one big haul and then quit the life on the proceeds it might be a different thing, but after the first theft there is an impelling influence which drags the man down and down, ever downwards, until he is too deep in the mire to get out. I gambled on stocks and believed that I had good reliable inside information, but I never made a cent in them. If I had won I'd be a millionaire now instead of a disgraced felon."

Strathcona

R. N. W. M. P. WON.

Strathcona, Aug. 13—A handsome victory was secured by an eleven composed of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police at the Exhibition grounds, Strathcona, when they met the Strathcona club in an Alberta Cup fixture, on Saturday afternoon. The weather was ideal, and a batsmen's wicket prevailed.

In bowling for the Fort Saskatchewan boys, Weaver and Cheney had the splendid analysis of eight wickets for 10 runs and 2 for 6 respectively. The home eleven made a miserable showing and their total aggregate only reached 22 runs, and the formidable figures of 152 by the R. N. W. M. P. club.

FATALITY NARROWLY AVERTED

What almost terminated in a drowning fatality took place on Sunday at Sandy Lake. It appears that a company of 12 from Strathcona drove out early in the morning to spend the day. During their stay, several of the company went for a sail and a young girl of about twelve fell overboard. Happily, however, a smart rescue by the driver of the bus saved the girl, and except a bad fright she was none the worse of her immersion.

BAKING POWDER.

Better than Soda and Sour Milk or Cream of Tartar

Because the acidity or sourness of different lots of sour milk is hardly ever the same, so the cook never knows just how much soda is needed to neutralize it. She can only GUESS, and guessing always means a chance of mistake. If too much soda is used, the biscuits will be yellow; if not enough, they will be sour. With cream of tartar there is no such trouble, for the acid strength of commercial cream of tartar varies widely in different samples. There is no guessing with Blue Ribbon Baking Powder, for the ingredients are proportioned with chemical exactness. You know EXACTLY how much to use. Sold by the Best Grocers. 35c. a pound.

Is the City Growing Westward?

The census returns show that the city is growing rapidly. The building permits tell the same story. The city is growing in every direction, but what part is making the most substantial growth?

Assuming that McDougall Avenue is the centre of the city, the actual figures as taken from the records of the building inspector would indicate not only a GREATER but a MORE SUBSTANTIAL growth in the Western part of the city. Up to the morning of August 10th the records show that building permits were taken out as follows—

	No. Permits	Valuation	Average Value
East McDougall Ave.	265	$316,300.00	$1,194.00
West McDougall Ave.	279	778,155.00	2,789.00

WHEAT CUTTING IN PEACE RIVER

Began Last Month and Harvest
Should Now Be Over

(Special to the Bulletin)

Athabasca Landing, Aug. 13.—Mall from Peace River and Lesser Slave Lake arrived here yesterday and reports wheat cutting commenced at Peace River on July 28th and that nearly all the crops in the district were ripe. The weather being all that could be desired the settlers will now be about through harvesting. Water in the Little Slave River is still very low and Captain Birber will not be able to make Lesser Slave this year unless the water rises.

RUSSIA NEEDS THE MONEY.

The Times' correspondent cables from Berlin:—It is believed here that the Russian financial position is precarious and under the influence of this belief abstract sympathies for the autocracy are giving way to a vague desire for any form of government which offers some guarantee of security for foreign investments. When the Duma was dissolved it was generally believed the Czar felt strong enough to carry out the policy he had apparently opposed. With the defection in the army the Czar's prospect of carrying out his policy unaided has vanished. Nevertheless there is an uncomfortable feeling that Emperor Nicholas may not be disposed to recognize this fact and draw in time the necessary conclusions. It is therefore with considerable uneasiness that persistent reports of the Russian intention to issue a new loan have been received. If intentions of this kind are seriously entertained, the German market, which participated only indirectly in the last issue would upon the next occasion presumably have the first refusal. Strenuous denials are issued from St. Petersburg. But all efforts to disarm suspicion in regard to Russia's financial position have failed. The continuous flow of reassuring reports in regard to the prosperity of Russian commerce and industry and the periodical publication of inland revenue returns are regarded with growing apprehension as attempts to prepare Germany for the inevitable. The Bourse preserves a calm exterior, and derives consolation from the absence of news, but the undercurrent of anxiety in regard to Russia's financial necessities is unmistakable.

CALGARY DOINGS

(From the Alberta)

The coroner's jury called for the purpose of investigating the cause of the death of J. W. Briatowe, who came to his death in an accident on the river south ward school on Thursday afternoon, took the evidence of Mrs. Cummings and Gov. and David Hoar, one of the men who fell from the scaffold and escaped injury.

The evidence of the medical men dealt with the cause of death, and was technical. Both agreed that death was due to a fall which caused a fracture of the skull and the penetration of the lungs by broken ribs.

David Hoar was one of the three men on the scaffold. The hook that straightened out and thus caused the accident, was produced. The witness said that when the three men, MacDonald, Briatowe and himself were on the scaffold, that Briatowe, the deceased, seemed to be suspicious of it, and examined it.

He understood that Roy had later on come through a window, and had come down on the scaffold, but he did not see him. If the four men were on the scaffold at the time it would be a weight of about 570 pounds. There was in addition mortar weighing about 60 pounds and water. He would not say how much the scaffold itself would weight. It is estimated, however, that it would weigh about 300 pounds, making the total weight upon the scaffold when it fell about 1,000 pounds.

After this evidence Dr. Cummings stated that MacDonald was unable to be present and give evidence, but that he was conscious and his evidence might be taken at the hospital.

Dr. Gow stated that Roy, who had fallen to the ground, would be unable to be out for a week or more but if the jury would go to his house he would be able to give evidence.

The coroner's inquest was adjourned until 10 a.m. today, when the jury will go to the Holy Cross hospital and the Roy residence to take additional evidence.

A new financial concern has decided upon locating in this city.

Mr. Warren general manager of the Toronto General Trust and Guarantee Company, is in the city now, making arrangements for starting business at once.

He has found some difficulty in finding satisfactory accommodation.

The city and the Alberta Electric Company come to terms about light yesterday. Though in the agreement some reference was made about the city furnishing light at cost, and though the company will be one of the city's best patrons, using 100 lights and much power, the company suggested paying the regular rate for a year's contract. The agreement was accordingly signed. The company is also negotiating with the city regarding the use of steam.

Forsees a Great Future

The guest of honor at the Canadian club Winnipeg was Hon. J. W. Longley, judge of the supreme court of Nova Scotia last week. Mr. W. Sanford Evans presided and in a few eloquent words introduced the speaker.

Mr. Longley expressed his surprise and gratification at the splendid audience. He was glad, he said, he had come west which he did in order to witness the stupendous growth of the famous land and to come to Winnipeg, the hub of the west. Presently, as it has been long recognized in the east, the political strength and industrial backbone would be located as far west as Winnipeg. This caused no feeling of envy in eastern breasts, but all were glad and the eastern breasts in common with the western pulsated with the splendid dreams of national life. These western provinces in common with the eastern will not rest content until Canada has taken her place among the nations of the world.

There are no fears in regard to the future of Canada that need to be hushed and it was a matter on which all must give much thought.

Mr. Longley said he had always been an admirer of the British empire and for the man who stands at its head. He would be sorry to think of Canada pursuing a destiny not allied with that of the empire. It was not a part of his dream that Canada should always be a colony. He had no thought of Canada sending a representative to any Imperial parliament. In a country unsurpassed in area and natural resources, it cannot but be a reality in the future that Canada shall be a nation that shall be so well known that her citizens may command respect the world over. He had heard many talk of Canada uniting with the United States, but he had never entertained a thought of that. He much admired the great nation to the south, but he thought there was plenty of room on the continent for two great nations. He had nothing against the States, but he preferred Canadian institutions. No matter what the future may hold in store, the nation to the south will be the most important in the consideration of Canada. It was most fortunate that we have in our neighbors a people of our own tongue and ideals. Continuing, Mr. Longley said that the policy of both countries was to strengthen the feeling of good will now existing between the two nations. In the past many Canadian citizens had gone to the States and held high positions, but now the tide is turned.

"I don't care how many Americans come to Canada," said his lordship. "I am not afraid of the Americanization of Canada. The Americans are coming here to be Canadians and to help in building up the country." In 40 or 50 years ahead Canada will have a population of thirty or forty millions. Saskatchewan and Alberta will be greater than Ontario in population and Winnipeg will have surpassed Toronto and Montreal. Joseph Howe, the greatest man that British North America had ever produced, had prophesied in 1854 that there were men within sound of his voice in Halifax who would hear the screech of the locomotive whistle in the passes of the Rocky mountains. Such had come to pass and it was not too much to expect that what the speaker had stated would become a truth. Where such a condition of affairs existed what would be the meaning of the word "colony"? Even now he was tired of the word. He repudiated it. The future of Canada was that of a partner with Great Britain in the glorious future in store for them."

Cardston Star: The C.P.R. are cultivating thirty acres of land at Maple Creek which they will plant with jack pine and if the pine grows will be drawn upon for a supply of ties for the C.P.R. track. This is being done as an experiment by the company, and will at the same time furnish to the people of the district the knowledge as to the possibility of forestry.

Lacombe Globe—The municipal assessment for 1906 totals about $600,000 and the assessment of the school district over $740,000. The increase over the totals for 1905 is $200,000 in each case. The rates of taxation have been fixed at 7 mills for municipal and 8 mills for school purposes. Last year's rates were 6½ mills for municipal purposes and 10 mills for schools.

Mail-Herald, Revelstoke—Frank T. Shutt, chemist of the Dominion experimental farms, is now in British Columbia for the purpose of visiting a number of the more important agricultural areas of the province, the object being to make a closer study of the soils, climatic conditions and methods of farming. After leaving Vancouver and the lower Fraser, Mr. Shutt will proceed to the Kootenays, which district is being rapidly settled by prospective fruit growers, who are anxious for an expert opinion of the soil.

Vidette, Indian Head: In the face of the enormous increase in the number of new settlers the demand for harvest help for 1906 is not decreased, but on the other hand more than double of harvesters brought into Western Canada for the past five years is required. The number coming since 1900 is given as:

1900	12,732
1901	15,000
1902	18,703
1903	19,000
1904	22,265
1905	14,184
1906	(Estimated 35,000)

Vidette, Indian Head: During the last ten years the number of extra harvest hands required in the west has remained almost constant, ranging between from fifteen to twenty thousand. The chief reason for this is that the great number of immigrants coming into the country and taking up homesteads usually help to augment the ranks of harvest hands for at least a couple of years until their own farms are in crop-bearing condition. It is to a great extent the remarkable number of new farms which are producing their first crop in 1906 which creates the present demand for men. As an instance, three years ago a young Englishman bought a farm of wild land at Shoal Lake, and during the autumn of 1903 engaged in the harvest fields. He is now trying to engage four men to help remove his own crop. A few thousand cases of this creates unusual demand for labor. The statistical reports of immigrants into the country since 1897 furnish the necessary evidence:

1897	20,016
1898	31,900
1899	44,543
1900	23,805
1901	49,149
1902	67,379
1903	128,364
1904	130,331
1905	146,007
1906	175,000

Daily Province, Vancouver: William J. Sherring, the Marathon hero, the fleet-footed Hamilton runner who made the world's greatest athletes look like selling-platers in the historic contest at Athens, will probably be seen in action in Vancouver next month. The man who came in miles ahead of the world's most noted distance runners either will take part in a long-distance race here or appear in an exhibition event in which he will endeavor to lower the Canadian record for five miles.

Why everybody likes Abbey's Salt.

It is so pleasant to the taste that even children take it with pleasure.
It does not "cake" or flake on top of the water.

It effervesces slowly—may be drunk leisurely, without choking or blinding the user like sedlitz powders.

The granules all dissolve—thus the full benefit of the salt is obtained with every dose.

It is the ideal laxative and tonic to purify the blood
—regulate stomach,
liver, kidneys and
bowels—and build up
the system.

GREAT HARVEST

LITTLE KNOWN

An Ancient Textile Duluth is the Greatest Flax Market in the World

Washington, Aug. 13.—Among the interesting experiments which the United States department of Agriculture has been recently conducting are those looking to the discovery of a species of flax, which, while allowing the seed to ripen fully, would produce fibre of a quality suitable for spinning. Seed flax is short and bristly. As here, in America, the seed is separated by running the flax through ordinary threshing machines, the fibres become so broken and tangled as to be utterly useless. Even the paper mills find most of this tow unfit for pulp.
It represents no money value whatever.

Noting this waste, the agricultural department began the investigations which have given highly encouraging results. Experts of the department believe that, if Yankee inventiveness can be drawn into the service of our flax growers, the Northwest will, in a few summers, be sending to our Eastern mills flax fibres suitable for all purposes for which hemp and jute are now employed. Millions of dollars would thus be added annually to our national wealth. Over 25,000 persons earn their daily bread in these mills.
Yet for the raw material used, we are compelled to pay enormous sums of money every year to Europe, flax being raised in this country chiefly for the seed, which is a valuable article of commerce.

The government experts are studying a plant that has been of use to mankind since the early dawn of civilization. In the time of Christ every one wore garments of linen, the well-known fabric made from flax, the strongest of the commercial bastes.
The towel with which Veronica wiped the sweat from the Savior's face was unknown in the Roman empire. Five centuries later the Emperor of China, On-Ti, ordered it to be recorded in the annals of his reign that he owned so unique an article of luxury as a cotton robe.

Long before the Christian era, however, the art of turning the flax plant's fibre into cloth was fully understood. In the British museum you may inspect a square of cloth un-wound from a mummy enshrouded when Onnis ascended the throne of Egypt, B.C. 3400. A microscope shows the cloth to be made of linen so fine that it contains 140 threads in the weft, and 64 in the warp. This remarkable product of ancient Egyptian textile skill, is at least fifty-three centuries old. Flax working, however, can be proved to be thousands of years older. Bundles of flax ready for the spinner, have been found in the lake dwellings of Switzerland, and there are abundant traces of the utilization of flax and hemp by various tribes of Europe's Stone Age. Unless prehistoric man had strong and flexible fibres for twisting into ropes it is difficult to understand how he could have built those strange memorial of faith and superstition, the menhirs or dolmens, found scattered throughout Western European countries. The stone could not have been transported to the building sites without ropes.

In many ages linen seems to have been associated with religious ceremonials, with high office, and with cleanliness of person. Ancient Egypt's priesthood, the real rulers of their country, were required by law to wear garments of linen and change them daily. Ezekiel warns the Hebrew priests to use only linen robes.
Pharaoh humbled Joseph by clothing him in vestures of fine linen. Pure white linen robed the seven angels seen by St. John to come out of the mythic temple.

Linen remained the world's chief textile until the last quarter of the 18th century. Then the labor-saving machines of Hargreaves, Arkwright, and Crompton effected a revolution in cotton manufacture and made Great Britain the wealthiest nation on the globe. Eli Whitney's cotton-gin turned the south into a cotton plantation.
Thenceforth flax-growing declined. The spinning-mule and the power loom could not be profitably employed in working up the longer delicate flax fibres, and, before proper machinery
could be devised cotton cloth had captured the textile market. It is only in our own day and generation that the finer, stronger, cleaner fabric is beginning to win back its own. Yet it may be noticed that in all cases in which wear is the supreme test, linen has held its place undisturbed. For example, men's shirts have retained linen in the bosom, the collar and the cuffs, though the bodies of those indispensable garments have been suc-
cumbent to King Cotton.

Flax was a common field product in New England 50 years after the settlement of Plymouth. But as the British parliament had forbidden the export of agricultural products to be exported, provided they were exported in British ships. Straw flax could not be sent to England, as it would hasten and spoil on the long voyage. But flaxseed, being hard-shelled, would stand oversea transportation, and then, as well as now, linseed oil—lin was the Anglo-Saxon term for flax—was needed in various arts and trades. But before the revolution, flaxseed had become one of the staple exports of Boston, New York and Philadelphia. Attending the adoption of the constitution our commerce rapidly increased, and about 800,000 bushels of flaxseed were sold annually to European countries.

Until the war of 1812 destroyed the foreign trade.

At one time Kentucky was our chief flax raising state. Indiana passed Kentucky during the civil war. Successive census reports show that Ohio had become the chief flaxseed state in 1869; Illinois in 1878; Minnesota in 1897.
The last named state seems likely to hold the championship for years to come. After North Dakota there follow, in order of present day production, South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and Idaho.

The bulk of all the flaxseed raised in the Northwest goes to Duluth, for shipment to various cities of the United States and Europe, thus making the Minnesota city the country's chief flaxseed market. Most of the American oil mills are in the ports of the Great Lakes, the location of the mills having been determined by the fact that water borne freight from Duluth means cheap transportation. The lion's share of the flaxseed export trade appears to the average city dweller, to the man on the street, to be of small value. He may be interested in learning that last year, there were shipped from the wharves of Duluth, 15,421,842 bushels of seed threshed from flax grown within a few hundred miles of that port. Duluth has long been one of the chief ports, yet the bushels of flax seed as grain shipping centres of the United States handled in 1905 amounted to more than a quarter of the number of bushels of grains of all kinds 59,676,930 shipped during the same year. Nor is the proportion of flaxseed likely to grow less. North Dakota's production of flaxseed increased during the decade 1894-1904, over 4,000 per cent, and the state's acreage is still extending.
South Dakota, and Minnesota show gains nearly as great.

Flaxseeds are dark brown, glossy, oval, and somewhat flattened. Northwestern seed yields about 20 pounds of oil to a bushel of the seed (56 lbs.)
Three countries control the world's commercial output of both oil and seed, the United States, Russia, and the Argentina.

The first linseed oil mill started in 1791. Twenty years later there were 230 mills scattered over four states,
Philadelphia having the largest number. One press, however, was often dignified with the title "mill" in those days. It was one until 1839 that a cargo of flaxseed was imported. It came from Russia. India sends us yearly large supplies of the seed. In that other oil equals it in drying qualities.

horns of the wicker and the occult, linseed oil, known from time immemorial, as a medicament, is put to use that seem strange indeed in the Occidental mind.

Last year the United States had 41
mills engaged in crushing flax seed.
They manufactured over 72,000,000 gallons of oil, and 1,000,000 pounds of oil cake, these products representing 35,000,000 bushels of seed. Six million dollars' worth of the oil cake was shipped to the Old World. There it is much used for fattening cattle. It is not fully appreciated here.

Linseed oil is indispensable in various manufactures. It is an essential ingredient in paints and varnishes. No

Mixed with lime water it forms the well known Carron oil, the best emulsion on the druggist's shelves. Oil clothing, linoleum and oil-cloth owe their waterproof capabilities to linseed oil. The varnish which produces patent leather has this same oil for its main component. Button enamel, toilet soap and printers' ink are other manufactures in which the flax-seed product plays an important part.

The day, however, is not far distant when fiber flax enough to supply our needs—at present 12,000 tons a year—will be grown in that portion of the country where seed flax has found so congenial a home, our vast and fertile northwest.

LUMBER PRICES AGAIN GO UP

Common Lumber Advanced $1 per Thousand

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 14.—At a meeting of the Mountain Lumbermen's association here yesterday, it was decided to raise the price of common lumber one dollar per thousand. There will be a slight advance also in a few other lines. It is claimed that the conditions warranted an advance of $8 and $10, but the lumbermen did not wish to take advantage of the situation arising in the northwest over good crops. One mill today reported orders for 360 carloads of lumber with little stock. The coast mills are bare of stocks with orders months ahead. Thirty-five mills are now in the association but a few more limits will be opened. The association decided to attend the Dominion Forestry Convention to be held at Vancouver on September 25 and 26, in a body.

C. P. R. AT SASKATOON
Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 14.—An agreement has been entered into between the city of Saskatoon and the C. P. R. regarding the entrance of that road into the city from the east. The city agrees: First—To close Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth avenues and King street, where crossed by the right-of-way of the railway, and to convey to the company the portions of the streets.

Second—To grant the company a right-of-way 110 feet in width across the northern part of the city park, between Tenth avenue and King street.

Third—To allow the company to close and use in connection with their station, Twenty-fourth street, between Avenues A and B. The company to allow a right-of-way across their station grounds from avenues A and B, through block 18.

In consideration of the foregoing the company agrees to:

First—To convey to the city a line 15 feet in width along the southern portion of their right-of-way from Third avenue to Spadina Crescent to Thirty-third street.

Second—To provide and maintain a foot bridge free to the public across the bridge, to be constructed by them over the Saskatchewan river, at or near Thirty-third street.

Third—To grant the city the right to construct at any time the city may desire to do so, a traffic attachment on the right side of the said railway bridge, to construct and to maintain same, construction and maintenance of such traffic attachments to be at the expense of the city.

Fourth—To construct and maintain a subway where the company's road crosses Seventh avenue and Spadina Crescent.

Chief Engineer Buxted conducted the negotiations for the C. P. R. Mr. Buxted was asked by a press representative when he thought the company expected to commence putting into actual force the plans affecting Saskatoon. In reply to this he said that he expected they would go ahead this fall and put in the concrete piers for the bridge. The steel would be received during the winter, so as to have the bridge ready for opening in the spring.

An estimate of the amount of money the company would lay out here in putting their line in full operation was asked for, but Mr. Buxted would not give any figures.

"The amount will be very large," he said, "but it will be for the mechanical department to figure that out."

Here, however, will be established a divisional point, and what will be a permanent pay roll must necessarily follow.

ROSTERN FARMER'S NARROW ESCAPE

(Special to the Bulletin)
Rosthern, Sask., Aug. 14.—Compelled to lose a pound and a half of flesh from his leg, was the fate of Mr. Binney, a farmer living near Duck Lake. He was busy cutting hay last Friday afternoon, when his team ran away. In trying to catch them, in some manner he stepped in front of the moving. His right leg was cut in a horrible manner, his thigh was also punctured and the right index finger badly sliced. He then drove three-quarters of a mile to his house. In dressing the wound the doctor was compelled to remove great pieces of flesh from the leg in order to save the limb, as blood poisoning had set in.

CHIEFS SEE THE KING

(Special to the Bulletin)
London, Aug. 13.—The British Columbia Indian chiefs were received by the King, to whom they presented a document owning allegiance to the late Queen and now to His Majesty. They presented three beautiful Indian work baskets, and to Queen Alexandra one basket containing a picture of the son and daughter of Chief Joe Capilano. The chiefs were delighted with their reception by the King. Asked what he thought of the King, Capilano said, "Oh, he good, great man, he speak so softly." The chiefs had no grievance to put before the king.

BY-LAW NO. 63.

A By-law to provide for the raising of the sum of $46,000.00 for the purpose of purchasing land to be used as Public Parks, Exhibition Grounds, Stock Yards, or other similar municipal purposes.

Whereas the Municipal Council of the City of Edmonton deem it expedient to purchase for the purpose of being used as public parks the following lands;

(1) All that portion of the south half of section 12 in township 53 range 25 west of the Fourth Meridian which lies south and west of the right of way of the Canadian Northern railway, Morinville branch (otherwise known as the Edmonton & Slave Lake railway) as the said right-of-way is shown on a plan of the said railway filed in the Land Titles office for the North Alberta Land registration district as plan "E. & S.L. Ry. No. 1" containing by admeasurement 100 acres more or less; and

(2) All that portion of River lot 26 and the most easterly two chains in width of river lot 24 of the Edmonton Settlement, described as follows: Commencing at the north-east corner of said river lot 26, thence south 29 degrees east along the easterly boundary of the said river lot 30 chains and 40 links; thence south 76 degrees 7 minutes west 43 chains and 60 links to a line in river lot 24 aforesaid which is drawn 2 chains west of the eastern boundary thereof and parallel thereto; thence north along the said line 41 chains and 57 links to the southerly boundary of the right-of-way of the Canadian Northern railway; thence north easterly along the said boundary of the said right-of-way 17 chains 34 links to the northern boundary of said river lot 26; thence east along the said boundary 8 chains and 12 links to the point of commencement containing by admeasurement 148 acres more or less, excepting thereout a strip of land 14 feet in width of the east side of said land containing one acre, the said strip to be dedicated as a road for the public use.

And whereas the amount estimated by the council as required for the purchase of the said lands is $46,000.00;

And whereas the Municipal Council deem it expedient to raise the said amount for the said purposes by the issue and sale of debentures as hereinafter provided;

And whereas it is expedient that the sum of $46,000.00 should be borrowed by means of the issue of debentures of the City for an amount not exceeding that sum and that the said sum should be payable during the period of 40 years from the date of the debentures to be issued therefor and should bear interest at a rate not exceeding two per cent. per annum and should as the Council shall deem expedient be repayable either (1) in such manner that each instalment of principal and interest shall be equal in each year of the said period of 40 years or (2) in such manner that the principal shall be paid at the end of the said period (an equal annual sum by way of sinking fund being raised annually during the said period sufficient to meet the principal at maturity) and the interest thereon annually;

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property in the city according to the last revised assessment roll is $6,620,985.00.

And whereas the total amount of the existing debenture debt of the city exclusive of local improvements debts secured by special assessment is $380,595.46, of which no part is in arrear.

And whereas it is expedient that this by-law should take effect on the day of the final passing thereof.

Now therefore the Council of the City of Edmonton, duly assembled, enacts as follows:—

1. The Mayor and Secretary-Treasurer of the City of Edmonton are hereby authorized and empowered to borrow for the purposes aforesaid in the name and on behalf of the City a sum or sums not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of $46,000.00 and to issue one or more debentures for the City for such sum or sums so borrowed.

2. The said indebtedness shall be paid and the said debentures shall be made payable during a period of 40 years from the date of issue of such debenture or debentures and shall bear interest at the rate not exceeding five per cent. per annum and shall as the Council shall deem expedient be repayable either (1) in such manner that each instalment of principal and interest shall be equal in each year of the said period of forty years or (2) in such manner that the principal shall be payable at the end of the said period of forty years an equal annual sum by way of sinking fund being raised annually during the said period sufficient to meet the principal at maturity) and the interest thereon annually.

3. During the currency of the said indebtedness there shall be raised annually by special general rate on all the rateable property in the City at the same time and in the same manner as the ordinary general City taxes, a sufficient sum to meet the amount of the equal annual sinking fund and interest as the case may be payable in each year in respect of the indebtedness.

4. This by-law shall take effect on the final passing thereof.

5. The votes of the burgesses for and against this by-law shall be taken at the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the City of Edmonton on Wednesday the 15th day of August, 1906, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

6. James Alexander McLean is hereby appointed returning officer and James Burns Walker deputy returning officer to take the votes at the time and place aforesaid.

7. The said Council Chamber at the hour of 11 a.m. of Monday the 13th day of August, 1906, is hereby fixed as the time when and the place where the Mayor will be present and will make all such proper appointments as may be requested to make of persons to attend at the polling place at the final summing up of the votes by the said returning officer on behalf of the persons interested in promoting or opposing the passing of the by-law.

8. The said Council Chamber at the hour of 5:30 p.m. of the 15th day of August is hereby fixed as the place and time where and when the returning officer shall sum up the number of votes given for and against the by-law.

Passed provisionally in council this 28th day of June A.D. 1906.

CHAS. MAY,
Mayor.
GEO. J. KINNAIRD,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Public Notice is hereby given that the above is a true copy of a by-law which has been introduced and which may be finally passed by the council (in the event of the assent of the burgesses being obtained thereto) within four weeks of the voting thereon and that upon the day and at the place fixed for taking the votes of the burgesses thereon, namely, Wednesday the 15th day of August, 1906, at the City Council Chamber the voting thereon will be held between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

BY-LAW NO. 64.

A By-law to provide for the borrowing of the sum of $12,000.00 for the purpose of purchasing Road and Ditching Machinery.

Whereas the Municipal Council of the City of Edmonton deem it expedient to purchase a steam roller and certain other machinery and apparatus for the improving of streets and the making of ditches and the estimated cost of the same is $12,000.00;

And whereas the Municipal Council deem it expedient to raise the said amount for the said purpose by the issue and sale of debentures as hereinafter provided.

And whereas it is expedient that the sum of $12,000.00 should be borrowed by means of the issue of debentures of the City for an amount not exceeding that sum and that the said sum should be payable during the period of 10 years from the date of the debentures to be issued therefor, and should bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per cent. per annum, and should as the Council shall deem expedient, be repayable either (1) in such manner that each instalment of principal and interest shall be equal in each year of the said period of 10 years, or (2) in such manner that the principal shall be paid at the end of the said period (an equal annual fund by way of sinking fund being raised annually during the said period sufficient to meet the principal at maturity) and the interest thereon annually.

A Canadian at the Congress of Chambers of Commerce

(Winnipeg Free Press Correspondent)
Milan, July 26.—A few discursive notes about a flying trip to some points of interest in Europe may not be uninteresting to readers of the Free Press. Not that I promise anything elaborate or even marked by any great degree of accuracy; but as nothing could be more remote from the attitude of "the chell takin' notes" than the travelling methods of one who comes to Europe to escape for a brief period, the grind of daily journalism. But even the most casual journeying cannot but leave general impressions on the mind; and some reference to these may have a measure of interest.

First of all, in view of its extreme importance, let me pay tribute to the Canadian delegates to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce, who in the early days of July rallied round the flag and saved the Empire. I had not appreciated the parous conditions of the poor old Empire until at the Grocers' Hall, London, where the congress assembled, I had my eyes opened by this thundering eloquence of Mr. Drummond, Cockshutt and Denison, three of our Canadian delegates. My travels through the United Kingdom prior to this gathering had, as I thought, impressed me with the abounding vitality and prosperity of the motherland; days spent in the roaring streets of London, had shown me, as I vainly imagined, the great healthy heart of a mighty organization. This, as it turned out, was all a mistake. Our Canadian Cassandras painted the most dismal picture of Great Britain's present, while their feelings would only permit them to touch in the most general way upon the horrors of her future. But the situation, though desperate was not altogether hopeless. They had come across the sea to point out to the obfuscated denizens of the motherland the path of safety. Let them pass a little resolution which they had placed on the order paper and all might yet be well; if not it was a case of over Niagara for old England; she was to fade away like an unsubstantial pageant leaving not a wrack behind.

Listening to these lugubrious disquisitions on the conditions of the Imperial office I thought of the House of Usher with the line of fate cleaving its facade from the roof to the dark waters from which it rose, and listened for the roar of its disappearance into the cavernous depths. But it was not only Great Britain which was in trouble, it appeared, there was a terrible condition of things in Canada as well. We in Canada, were actually trading more and more with the United States every year and Canada was going to be lost to the Empire. This also could only be averted by the passage of the resolution which the orators had in hand. So the resolution was passed—despite the opposition of short-sighted or traitorous individuals representing many of the largest Chambers of commerce in Great Britain, not to mention the delegates who spoke for India with its countless millions. Thus we saved the Empire in the brave days of July 1906. Honor to Toronto's talking brigade—when shall their glory fade?

The bumpousness, arrogance, and cocksureness of some of the Canadian orators was almost incredible. Instance: Mr. Cockshutt calmly told the Congress representing every section of the Empire, that Toronto was the most Imperially-minded city in the whole far-flung British dominions. Since the twentieth century is Canada's century as the nineteenth was that of the United States, perhaps we are developing some of the bounce and braggadocio that our neighbors of the south are outgrowing. At any rate we cut a pretty figure at Congress with our multifarious resolutions, our ardent declarations of our own greatness, our hectoring and bullying attitude towards the mere Englishman who didn't agree with us. The good natured tolerance with which the English delegates, who were not in sympathy with the resolutions, took these fiery outbursts, confirmed the impression I had already formed that the English, despite a traditional reputation to the contrary, are a most courteous and well-mannered people. One can understand of course that they could easily refrain from being annoyed by our Canadian gasconade; but how did they keep from laughing? At the dinner given to the delegates by the London Chamber of Commerce Mr. Asquith made some subtle references to the Congress and its declarations in a vein of the most delicate irony—too delicate to pierce the epidemic of those to whom they were addressed.

The resolution passed by the congress was of course the straight identification of the Congress (and particularly its Colonial delegates India excepted) with the cause of Chamberlainism. Personally, I have always doubted the wisdom of the Colonies, or representatives, commercial or political, of the Colonies forcing this issue in Great Britain; and what I saw and heard in England strengthened this view. That the Colonies are in sympathy with the Imperial preferential trade idea to this extent that, Great Britain being agreeable, they would be willing to negotiate with a view to making a mutually advantageous trade arrangement, is undoubtedly true; but it would be well for the Colonies to make this perfectly clear and leave the question at this stage. The issue is not a political one in the Colonies because we all have tariffs, and a remission in favor of Britain offers no difficulties; but in Great Britain it is very much a political issue, and participation in the controversy by the Colonies means identification with one of the political parties. If the Colonial Governments, Colonial commercial bodies, Colonial public men (I use the word "Colonial" unsatisfactorily as it is, because there is really no substitute for it) choose to make common cause with Mr. Chamberlain in his Campaign against British Liberalism, they are taking a course full of peril to the very cause of Imperial unity which is nearest their hearts. The British Liberal party is not a negligible factor in the political life of Great Britain. It is actually in office with the greatest majority since the days of the Reform Bill and the prediction so freely made by Mr. Chamberlain's partisans that this great majority will crumble away speedily is based upon hope and not upon actualities. The Liberal Government has many difficulties before it, but in all probability it will serve out its seven years term; and if they have the courage to pursue a truly radical policy with respect to domestic questions, of land tenure, taxation and other matters which come home closely to the average voter, the Liberals may well continue the dominant political force for a generation. Attack invites reprisals, human nature being what it is; and if Canada and the other Colonies choose to fight the English Liberalism, it is possible that the effect will be really to endanger the solidarity of the Empire, which under the existing conditions is in no danger whatever, despite the shrieking Canadians.

What I heard in England at the Congress and elsewhere confirmed me in the impression that the real strength of the Chamberlain party is not in the Imperial preferential idea but in the desire for straight protection on their products by manufacturers and grain-growers. If they have their way, they may object quite as much to Colonial as foreign competition. Just as in Canada the actual opponents of a low tariff on British goods are the manufacturers who theoretically are ardent supporters of the preferential trade idea. The maintenance of the Cattle Embargo by Great Britain is a significant illustration of how abstract theories are modified to suit material interests; and the rejection by the Congress itself of a resolution asking for the removal of the Embargo was highly significant.

The crumbling temple of the Empire having been safely bound together by a band of white paper, the delegates departed with the consciousness of duty well done. Some hastened back to Canada to renew with increased vigor, the agitation for higher duties on British goods on the theory that a mill in Canada is just as good for the Empire as a mill in Yorkshire (and a good deal more profitable to the Canadian mill owner); others to the pleasure of continental travelling. I crossed to France in time to see the fetes in memory of the fall of the Bastille, on July 14, and then came to Northern Italy by way of Switzerland. Some notes of this trip must be left to a later date.

Accuses Government of Complicity

The hopelessness of the break between the bureaucratic Russian government and the Duma was well illustrated by the following speech in which Prince Urusov, a leader of the progressive section of the Duma, accused the government of complicity in the massacres of the past year. Whether or not the government was guilty may be a matter of uncertainty but that a large number of the popular representatives should believe it guilty indicates the extent of the estrangement between the government and the people. That the people are prepared to believe the government capable of such crimes is evidence of an administrative record so bad that it has destroyed public confidence both in the good purpose and the moral decency of the government.

Prince Urusov was governor of Tver until 1905. He resigned when Trepoft was appointed Assistant Minister of the Interior. He was Assistant Minister of the Interior for a time under Durnovo and Witte last year. The most significant parts of his speech are given in a literal translation:

"Any attempt to investigate the so-called pogroms (massacres) will bring the investigator face to face with certain symptoms identical in all cases. Firstly a massacre is always preceded by reports of its preparation, accompanied by the appearance of a certain kind of 'stormy petrels' in the person of little known representatives of the dogs of the population. Then too the cause of the massacre as officially announced is afterwards always, without exception, found to be false. Further, in the acts of the murderers there is always to be found a certain similarity of plan which robs these acts of the character of chance or elemental phenomena. The murderers act on the assumption of some kind of risk as if conscious that they will not be punished, and only continue to act as long as this confidence remains unshaken. Again, in the conduct of the police there is never any unity or plan. While some police sections suffer complete devastation in the presence of considerable police forces, other sections remain almost untouched in consequence of the protection afforded to them by the police, who have done their duty with confidence and energy.

"In January, 1906, one of the persons in the Ministry of the Interior and an opponent of this policy of massacres—I do not refer to myself—began to receive a large quantity of specimens, appeals, simply designed, which had been widely circulated in the chief centres of South and West Russia, and also anxious complaints against the preparation of massacres in Vilna, Bialostok, Kiev, Nicolaiev, Alexandrovsk and other towns.

"Meanwhile in St. Petersburg, as early as the autumn of 1905 (and it would seem, before the October ministry came into power) in No. 16 Fontanka street, in some remote room of the department of police, was at work a printing press, purchased at the expense of the department, with government money. This press was put under the control of an officer of gendarmes in civil dress, Komissarov, who, with a few assistants, assiduously prepared the appeals to which I have already alluded. The secret of the existence of this 'underground' press was so carefully kept and the conduct of its organization was so conspirative, that not only in the Ministry, but even in the department of police itself, there were very few persons who knew about it. Meanwhile the work of the society, whose organ the press was, was clearly meeting with success. For when questioned by a person who happened to come on the track of this organization, Komissarov answered: 'A massacre—we can make for you of any kind you please. If you like, for ten men; and if you like for ten thousand.' Gentlemen, this is an historic phrase. (There was great movement amongst the deputies of the Duma.) For the information of the Kiev deputies, I will add that in Kiev, on February 16th, was arranged a massacre of ten thousand; it was successfully averted. (Great movement in the assembly.) The president of the council (Witte) had, we are told, a most serious attack of nervous asthma when the facts which I have just narrated were communicated to him. He summoned Komissarov, who reported to him on what he had done and on the full powers to act which he had received. In a few hours the Department no longer contained either the press, or the appeals or the staff. There remained simply an empty room. And that is why no one, amongst others not even the Minister of the Interior, will be able to satisfy the legitimate desire of the Duma to know the names of those persons who controlled and worked this organization.

"I affirm that no Ministry, not even one taken from the body of the Imperial Duma, will be able to establish order in the country, while persons who stand apart, behind an impervious barrier, can lay rough hands on separate parts of their political machine, sharpening their political ignorance by experiments on living organisms, engaged in a kind of political vivisection. (Loud applause.)

"Here in the Imperial Duma are many persons who live by incomes from estates. But have you heard a single expression from them directed against the plan of compulsory expropriation of land in the interest of the working tillers of the soil? There are many of us who belong to the privileged classes. Is it much that has been said from our side against the abolition of privileges, against the idea of civil equality or against reform in a broad, national and democratic spirit? And has not this so-called 'Revolutionary Duma,' from the very beginning of its work and to the time at which I speak, solicitedly endeavored to raise the Tsar's crown, to put it above political scandals of day to day, above our mistakes, and to keep it free from all responsibility for those mistakes? Yet we feel that those dark forces are armed against us; that they hedge off from us the sovereign power and undermine its confidence in us. They do not allow our work to proceed in that harmony with the sovereign power, which, by the law that has established our new order of government, is the essential condition of success and the pledge of a peaceful development of the life of our State. It is here that we discover a great danger, and this danger will not vanish while the affairs of administration and the destiny of the country are under the influence of men who are by education quarter-masters and policemen—and by vocation organizers of massacres." (Loud and prolonged applause from all the deputies. The Labor group, radical Lefts, shout—"Resign!"—"Organizers of Massacres.")

FOUND A NEW SEAM OF COAL

Osburn & Horne Strike Four and a Half Foot Seam in Parkdale.

Messrs. Osburn and Horne, who have been sinking a shaft on R. L. 22, Parkdale, are now down to a depth of 196 ft., where a four and a half foot seam of splendid coal has been found. Miners will begin at once on this seam and other gangs will continue sinking the shaft. The preliminary borings showed a five foot seam about 20 feet below the present level and a ten foot seam at a depth of something over three hundred feet. The shaft is sunk to the five foot seam and mining begun there, and later they will continue down to the ten foot strata.

The shaft is within a short distance of the C. N. R. tracks, and a spur line will be put in at once. The coal will be on the local market in a short time and the export trade will also be begun. Inquiries have been received from points as far east as Manitoba and the proprietors believe they can work up a large export business. The company will operate under the name of the Parkdale Coal Co.

WILL MAKE A NEW TREATY

With Indians in Northern Part of Province of Saskatchewan

Mr. James A. J. McKenna, assistant Indian commissioner, was waited on recently by a Winnipeg Free Press reporter with a view to obtaining information regarding the expedition which he is about to make to northern districts of the country. He has been appointed by the Dominion government as commissioner to negotiate a new Indian treaty affecting a population of perhaps 12,000 to 15,000 Indians, chiefly in the new province of Saskatchewan, and involving the extinction of the Indian claims to some 85,000 square miles of land.

Mr. McKenna's plan is to leave Prince Albert on the 15th or 16th inst. to go overland to Green Lake, thence by canoe to Portage la Pêche, near the eastern boundary of Treaty 8, where he will meet the aborigines on the 3rd of September. Then he will go to Isle a la Croix and meet the natives there on Sept. 13. Next he will proceed to Stanley on the Churchill, where he expects to be about October 8. Leaving there about the middle of the month he will probably reach the south end of Montreal Lake by the 20th or 22nd of October, and will return from there by trail to Prince Albert.

The party will consist of Mr. McKenna, commissioner, Major General Genereux, of the Northwest Mounted Police and two constables, who go as escorts; Messrs. Charles Fisher and Charles Mair, as secretaries, and Dr. Le Breque, physician to the party. The object of the treaty it was learned from Mr. McKenna is to extinguish the aboriginal claims to the territory in that portion of the new province of Saskatchewan which lies north of the 54th parallel of latitude and east of the eastern boundary of Treaty 8. That treaty was made in 1899, by Commissioner Hon. David Laird, Hon. J. H. Ross, now Senator, and Mr. J. A. J. McKenna, the present commissioner. The country covered lies to the west of this, about Great Slave Lake, Lake Athabasca, Lesser Slave Lake, and the Peace river.

The proposed treaty will not involve any important change of residence of the Indians generally who are concerned. The extinguishing of the claims of the Indians and half-breeds of that country is in accordance with the policy which the government of Canada has followed from the beginning; that is, when the extension of governmental interests and the development of the country are looked upon by the natives as interfering with their aboriginal freedom in occupying territory to secure their good-will by giving them compensation for such interference with the rights which they previously exercised.

After the conclusion of this treaty there will still remain some Indians to the north beyond treaty limits and east of the territory ceded, the object of the treaty being only to meet the immediate necessity for extinguishing the claims of those whose habitat is within the bounds of the province of Saskatchewan.

The population affected is estimated to include about 8,000 Chippewans, 5,000 Crees, and a couple of thousand half-breeds, though it is impossible to give figures with anything like accuracy.

Mr. McKenna does not speak from personal knowledge of the country to be covered by this treaty, having only been over the country that has been ceded by former treaties. A despatch from Ottawa gives the following information concerning the expedition:

22,000 and 15,000, composed of Crees and Chippewans, divided into numerous bands. There is not the same pomp and ceremony about the making of an Indian treaty now that there used to be in the days when the aborigine was of more importance in the economy of the state. Yet even in these days of his diminished splendor, the Indian insists upon no little display of dignity, and the Indian department is always careful to indulge his taste in this direction. There will be no lavish distribution of gauzy blankets, firearms and tobacco presents. Commissioner McKenna will, however, participate in several solemn conclaves before the treaty is ratified and the various chiefs have affixed their totems to the document by which, in consideration of certain spot cash payments and yearly allowances, the tribes to the vast track of land will be converted to the crown. When the treaty has been formally and duly ratified, the Indians will be removed to certain stipulated reserves and granted to them in proportion of one square mile to each family of five, while any who prefer to live separate from the band will be granted land in severalty to the extent of 100 acres for each Indian. In such cases, however, a provision is always inserted as to non-alienations without the consent of the governor-in-council. The ready cash payment will amount to about $30 or $40 to each chief, 20 odd dollars to each adult Indian, and $12 to every other Indian of whatever age or sex. In addition to this, of course, a permanent annuity of $5 per head is paid to every Indian squaw and papoose in the tribe.

The department recognized the position of the chiefs by special marks of distinction. Each chief of a band, upon coming into treaty, receives a large silver medal and a British flag. An interesting fact in connection with this treaty is that they will be the first to bear the effigy of His Majesty King Edward VII. These medals are now being manufactured in Ottawa. Commissioner McKenna will start on his journey from Winnipeg within a few days. He expects to get through with his treaty making and be on his way home by Oct. 20. During his absence he will also settle the half-breed claims still outstanding in the territory.

HOW THE WEST GROWS
Winnipeg, Aug. 12.—A fair idea of how the country tributary to the Soo line of the C. P. R. in southwestern Saskatchewan is filling up is furnished by the little town of Milestone, where 200 cars of settlers' effects were unloaded this week. Ten new threshing outfits and two hundred new binders have been sold.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL PROPOSED REMEDIES

Edmonton, August 3.
Dear Sir—In your issue of the 11th you make a statement in regard to the office of the telephone department which reads as follows: "Both the cause of the inefficiency and the remedies proposed might very well have been apparent to the officials," and a little further, "If they were apparent why were they not proposed to the council?" etc.

Now, in justice to myself I would refer you to a report which I placed in the hands of both the engineer and a lit le later on, the commissioners themselves. The date of this report will show that the improvements were suggested some time before it was decided to send for more expert knowledge. Yours truly,
G. MacDONALD.
